AUTUMN BULLETIN

The ever-shortening summer evenings, the flaming red of a sumac branch, the gathering of swallows on high wires are sharp reminders that the autumn season approaches swiftly. Weather and seasonal conditions of late summer and early fall are good for moving balled and burlapped, potted or container grown plants and for making a new lawn or renovating an old one.

Other plants will be available as the season progresses. Tulips, Narcissus and many more spring flowering bulb varieties from Holland will be here later in September. Deciduous (leaf losing) trees and shrubs will be ready after there have been some heavy frosts (usually mid-October for shrubs and late October for larger trees). Lily bulbs arrive in mid or late October.

There will be no attempt to list, in this bulletin, all the plants we have for sale this fall but we will send upon request detailed lists of the following: Azaleas, Vines, Hedges, Ground Covers, Flowering Shrubs, Junior Aristocrats (Economy Sized Plants), Dwarf Fruits, Standard Fruits, Shade and Ornamental Trees, Needled Evergreens, Broadleaved Evergreens (Hollies and Rhododendrons).

EVERGREENS TO PLANT IN EARLY FALL

Autumn usually presents weather conditions ideal for planting. September and October allow time for roots to develop before freezing weather in this region. Hundreds of young trees, freshly dug from our fields or container grown, are inviting your inspection. WHITE FIR (Abies), CYPRESS (Chamaecyparis), JUNIPER (low spreaders and slender upright types with others in between), MUGHO PINE, WHITE PINE, YEW (Taxus), ARBORVITAE (Thuja) and HEMLOCK are among those here.

Small sizes of some kinds start at $1.75 each (See Junior Aristocrat list) and go to $12.00 each for 5 to 6 foot White Pines. Come to the nursery and make your own selection. Detailed lists of varieties, sizes and prices are available at our office, salesroom or by mail.

TREES

As these trees are dug only after they have properly ripened, they will be available from mid to late October through the balance of the fall planting season. Most of the listed kinds will be displayed as soon as they can be safely moved.

TULIPS

Although brown or pale and hard now, these imported plants are among the earliest to display their many beautiful colors when spring arrives. Our list includes old favorites and a number of newer kinds. In our salesroom, they will be displayed with full color pictures to make your selection easy. All are packaged in transparent bags so that you may see the quality you buy. All are labeled. These features lessen the possibility of mixing which is always present when bulbs are displayed in open bins. When ordering by mail always indicate a second choice, for specific kinds are often sold out early. Planting directions come with orders.
